

Transition Guide: NetTutor® User Experience (UX) Updates

Same Great Online Tutoring Service, New Look-and-Feel!

We're excited to announce that LSI will be updating the NetTutor website this Spring. Through collaboration with our partners in the learning community and interaction with students, we prioritized updates to the user experience.

The redesign includes:

- ▶ Fresh, more intuitive interface—students just know what to do
- ▶ Calm colors; new icons—welcoming and relaxing
- ▶ Student-friendly language—no more “queue” or “archives”
- ▶ Guided paper submission—stepping through the process
- ▶ Personal lockers—grouping private sessions
- ▶ Responsive design—pages resize to fit all devices
- ▶ Accessible for all users—core to all LSI solutions

Student's Path to a Tutor, Student Locker

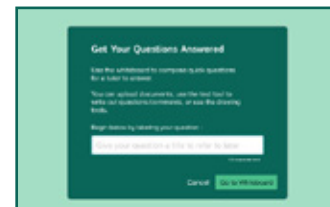

Improved usability and a more modern look.

Access all your materials in one place!

Simplified paper submissions.

Submit your questions and return for feedback.

Next Steps and More Information

We're adding a new “Resources” section to the LSI website. We'll post images there so you can update any faculty/student collateral.

We'll be staggering our “go live” dates.

Tier 1 partners go live January 1st. Tier 2 partners will follow shortly thereafter in early Spring, and Tier 3 will bring all remaining partners live.

Between now and then, we'll email updates and invite you to webinars to learn more.
